Editorial Opinions Differ on Latest Reparations Developments

MUCH discussion has been caused by the latest developments in the problems of reparations. The recent conference held at the White House between President Hoover, the Secretary of State, the Secretary of the Treasury, and the leaders of Congress, is thought by many editors to presage a reduction of the American claims upon Germany. Another issue concerning the reparations situation, and which has aroused considerable comment, is the proposal to establish an international reparations bank to handle the reparations payments. This proposal does not meet with the approval of many papers, who say that the Federal Reserve system does not have the right to participate in such a bank, representing as it does, the security for the deposits of the people of the United States.

THE Philadelphia Public Ledger (Independent) writes: "American claims against Germany fall into two categories—first, arrears on the account for the army of occupation; second, the two and one-quarter per cent of the total reparation annuity assigned to the United States by the Paris agreement of 1925. The other countries gave up their army-of-occupation arrears entirely. But they had already received 65 per cent of the payments due, while the United States had received only about 16 per cent. The Washington decision, if based upon proportional concessions, would mean a cut of about 10 per cent from the balance due the United States, which, at the beginning of the present reparations year was $206,000,000. * * * It should suffice to point out that the United States, in the case of the reparations problem as it stands today, is ready to make sacrifice proportional to those of the creditor nations. The United States has already scaled down war debts to an extent not always appreciated."

THE New York World (Independent Democratic) notes: "It must be supposed that only extraordinarily urgent news from Paris can account for the President's summoning the Secretary of State, the Secretary of the Treasury and the leaders of Congress on a Sunday afternoon to discuss a revision of the American claim against German payments. * * * It has been evident since the experts assembled at Paris that a settlement would require sacrifice by all the creditors and that the United States could not afford to be the one creditor which insisted on the last penny nominated in the bond. The insistence on the last penny would have been intolerably churlish, and contrary to the spirit which our own experts have recommended as desirable to the people of Europe. There has never been the slightest doubt that for the sake of our own prestige we could not afford to be more stubborn than other peoples."

THE Washington Post (Independent) believes: "It is little wonder * * * that the Hoover administration looks with disfavor upon the proposal from Paris that the United States take the lead in making concessions to Germany. After the late allies have collected four-fifths of the sums due them for expenses of the armies on the Rhine, the United States is asked to postpone or forego its claims, which have been held subordinate to the allies' claims for several years. If Britain had shown a willingness to collect from Europe only enough to pay America, or if France had come forward with an effort to adjust the debt of America, there would be some point to the suggestion that the United States should also make concessions. Up to this hour, however, the only concessions which the allied governments agree upon are concessions by the United States."

New Admission Requirements

IN ORDER to provide a more thorough test of the capabilities of candidates for the United States Military Academy to pursue the course at that institution, the Secretary of War, upon the recommendation of Maj. Gen. William R. Smith, Superintendent of the Academy, has approved a revision of the regulations governing the admission of candidates into the Academy as cadets. The revised regulations affect principally those candidates who are graduates of preparatory schools, public high schools, or honor graduates of honor schools, accredited by the United States Military Academy. They will be put into effect with the class entering 1930, according to the following statement issued this week:

The recommendation of General Smith for a revision of the regulations was made as a result of an extensive study of the cause of failures of cadets after admission to the Academy covering the period 1890-1927. The study indicated that by far the largest proportion of failures was due to deficiencies in mathematics and that there was a decided increase in the percentage of failures since the inauguration of admission by certificate in 1915. For the period 1890 to 1914 the average percentage of cadets found deficient in mathematics at the end of the first term was 7.1 per cent, while for the period 1915 to 1927, the average percentage had risen to 12.45 per cent. The study also indicated that the proportion of cadets admitted during this latter period on certificate to those admitted on examination was in the proportion 3 to 2 or expressed in percentages, 61.4 to 38.6 per cent. The percentage of those admitted on certificate who were found deficient with those on examination likewise found deficient was in the proportion of 18.3 per cent to 6.2 per cent. In other words, three times as many cadets who had been admitted on certificate were found deficient as compared with those who had been admitted on examination.

It is expected that the new regulations will raise the standard of the scholarship of the candidates, and eliminate candidates who now enter the Academy unprepared to pursue the course. These cadets become a drag on the institution, retard the progress of the other cadets and necessitate West Point devoting a large amount of effort in the first semester to elementary High School Algebra, Geometry and English. By reducing the number of failures after admission, the proposed plan will also prevent to a great extent the embarrassment of cadets on account of failure.

Under the existing requirements, candidates who are graduates of preparatory schools, public high schools or honor graduates of honor schools accredited by the United States Military Academy may be admitted by certificate, provided that in their school work they have shown proficiency in subjects amounting to not less than 14 units, eight of which must be algebra, plane geometry, English grammar and composition, English literature and history. A concession is made to preparatory and high school students who are not graduates but who have satisfactorily completed three and a half years of work at such a school. They may enter on certificate, provided that the course which they are pursuing will, when completed prior to July 1, show proficiency in subjects amounting to not less than 14 units, eight of which must be in the subjects mentioned above. Honor graduates of honor military schools are admitted without mental examination.

The revised regulations, just approved, provide that honor graduates of honor schools may be admitted wholly on certificate, provided they have been graded in their academic work in the upper 10 per cent of their classes. Candidates from preparatory schools and from high schools, accredited by the United States Military Academy, and honor graduates of honor schools not graded in the upper 10 per cent in their academic work will no longer be admitted to the Military Academy wholly on certificate as under existing regulations. They must hereafter submit a certificate showing proficiency in subjects amounting to not less than 15 units, eight required, and seven optional, the eight units including algebra, plane geometry, English grammar and composition, English literature and history. In addition, if their certificates are acceptable, they must pass a validating examination on the first Tuesday in March in the three subjects—algebra, plane geometry, and English. This validating examination is not identical with the regular entrance examination. It will be an examination of such a nature as to determine the knowledge of a candidate but not so difficult as to require for the desirable student a special preparatory course. The validating examination will serve to assure the Military Academy authorities that the candidate possesses the requisite knowledge of algebra, geometry and English to enable him to pursue the course.

The revised regulations make no material change in the requirements of those candidates who are regularly enrolled students in good standing without condition in a university, college or technical school, accredited by the Military Academy. Under the old regulations a candidate in this category could be admitted on a certificate of proficiency in subjects amounting to not less than 14 units of a published list, while the new regulations require 15 units. Likewise, the new regulations make no change in requirements of candidates from the United States at

THE New Orleans Times-Picayune (Independent Democrat) asserts: "The committee of experts of the nations interested in the problem of German reparation payments has been at work for well over three months and yet no definite agreement has been reached. No criticism can be directed at the members of the committee, or the two unofficial representatives of the United States, Owen D. Young and J. P. Morgan, because the problem is large and intricate. * * * Ten years have elapsed since the war ended. The Allies have made numerous concessions to Germany during the present session, but the stupendous sums involved are not agreed upon as being possible of repayment. It is true that there is some consolation in the fact that the dire predictions of former experts 10 years ago, to the effect that the whole financial structure of the world would be thrown out of joint by the payments made by Germany, are yet to be demonstrated as fact."

THE New York Journal of Commerce (Commercial) says: "It is quite clear * * * that this superbank is to do exactly what has all along been suspected—undertake banking operations which would ordinarily be prohibited to the banking systems, or certainly to the central banks of the several participating countries, and do a good many things whose undertaking may easily be anything but desirable from the standpoint of public welfare. The funds of the Federal Reserve Bank belong to the members of those banks, and represent the security for the deposits of the people of the United States. The Federal Reserve System has no right whatever, without enabling legislation, to participate in any such bank, or to engage in any such transactions as are now proposed."

THE Philadelphia Inquirer (Republican) has this to say: "Hope of a reparation settlement at Paris has been greatly stimulated by the action of President Hoover in calling a conference of Cabinet members and leaders of Congress to discuss a reduction of the American claims upon Germany. It is clear that a scaling down of these would make the representatives of the Allies more inclined to accept the reductions asked of them in the Young plan. * * * In brief, Mr. Hoover knows Europe, understands post-war conditions there, and is prepared in a practical way, without any of the 'entanglements' which some of our suspicious Senators dread, to make the influence of the United States count when it is most needed."

THE New York Times (Independent Democrat) views: "What the President has done is by a striking gesture to show that the United States cannot and does not wish to remain in proud isolation when invited to join others in working out a great reconstruction program for the whole world. If this represents a slight modification of policy by the Washington administration it is all the more to its credit. For it shows a willingness to face facts, and to realize the inevitable part which economic forces play in the modern world. * * * Let it not be said that the President's act is a piece of Quixotic altruism. What he is proposing is not, primarily, in the interest of Europe, but distinctly for the welfare of the United States. * * * As Secretary Mellon put it some years ago, a stabilized and prosperous Europe is worth more to America than all our war debts."

THE Baltimore Sun (Independent Democrat) takes this attitude: "The reduction in the American claim against Germany for expenses of the Army of Occupation, said to have been proposed by President Hoover, is trivial enough in itself, but it can easily have a psychological effect far out of proportion to the actual sums involved. The knowledge that even an appearance of sacrifice can be expected from the United States in the interest of European stability will add greatly to the prestige of the Americans on the committee of experts and enhance the importance of their proposals."

Service Case Decided

CONSIDERABLE importance is attached in Service circles to the recent settlement of the cases of two disabled enlisted men of the Regular Army who held emergency commissions during the World War. The account is given as follows:

Two cases of importance to disabled enlisted men of the Regular Army who held emergency commissions during the World War were decided by Justice Hitz of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, who ordered a writ of mandamus issued against General Frank T. Hines, Director of the Veterans' Bureau, directing him to place the petitioners, Sgts. Easton and Cavanagh, retired enlisted men of the Regular Army, on the Emergency Officers' Retired List, and to continue them thereon with the retired pay of their emergency rank.

Enlisted Man Barred.

The Comptroller General had ruled that the status of an enlisted man of the Regular Army barred him from participating in the benefits of the act. General Samuel T. Ansell, attorney for the petitioners, in presenting the cases, said that the terms of the Emergency Officers' Retirement Act were simple, plain and mandatory, and so clearly included disabled retired enlisted men of the Regular Army that nobody but the Comptroller General had ever had any doubt about it and that that official had nothing to do with it since the matter was one primarily involving status.

It was pointed out to the court that the act is addressed solely to the Director, that it directs him to put all eligible applicants on the retired list and to continue them on it and that it also makes it his specific and mandatory duty to pay them; that therefore the power and the responsibility are solely the director's and that he alone is answerable to the courts and to Congress.

The pleadings showed that the director and his law advisors agreed that the act applies to retired enlisted men of the Regular Army and that the Director had been restrained from the performance of his duty only by two decisions of the Comptroller General, the first to the effect the act does not apply to petitioners at all and the second that it did apply to them but only if they resigned their positions on large, the Regular Army, the National Guard, and other appointees who establish their qualifications for admission by taking the regular entrance examination. As in the past, the revised regulations will require all candidates to submit to physical examination.

the retired list of the Regular Army. The director also answered that after the papers in the suits had been served on him and the day before the hearing he had placed the petitioners on the retired list and had asked the Comptroller General for an advance opinion as to his right to pay them. To this, counsel for petitioners replied that recent decisions of the courts, including the Supreme Court of the United States, had established the law to be that the statute authorizing advance decisions by the Comptroller General has no application to the statutory pay appropriated by Congress, that the Comptroller General has no jurisdiction whatever to withhold the statutory pay of an officer or to prevent its payment to him, and that his opinion affords to the director no justification or excuse for delaying payment.

Court Orders Writs.

The court ordered the writs to issue commanding the director to place petitioners on the retired list with their emergency rank, continue them on it and to pay them or cause them to be paid three-fourths of the pay they were receiving when discharged from their emergency commissions in lieu of their present retired pay as enlisted men.

Counsel in the course of argument pointed out that the Comptroller General's arbitrary requirement that petitioners separate themselves from the service was utterly untenable, inasmuch as the Emergency Officers' Retirement statute established the status from the date of receipt of application and, besides, no authority exists for discharging a retired enlisted man; he also said that a retired enlisted man disabled between 10 and 30 per cent was obviously entitled to retirement with his emergency rank while retaining his retired pay as an enlisted man.

Medical Exam Scheduled

THE next examination of applicants for commission in the Medical Corps of the Regular Army will be held July 8-12, it was announced this week.

Applicants must be between 25 and 32 years of age, citizens of the United States and graduates of a recognized medical school with one year's service as interne or its equivalent in practical professional experience as determined by the Surgeon General in each case. They must also pass the required physical examination and present suitable evidence of moral character and general fitness.

The Surgeon General has stated that he will be glad to answer any requests for information concerning the Medical Corps of the Army and will furnish a circular of information and application blank upon request.

ber of Congress, except through, or as authorized by, the Department; except as provided in sections 102, 103, 104 and 859 of the Revised Statutes."

Mr. Carey's Letter.

In his letter to the Secretary, Mr. Carey, after quoting the Alnav, says:

To anyone not familiar with the facts, it would appear from the phraseology employed that the Navy Department has but recently become aware of the activity referred to and that the procedure employed is objectionable. With this I cannot agree.

On or about Oct. 12, 1925, I handed to the then Secretary of the Navy, Hon. Curtis D. Wilbur, at his office in the Navy Department, a letter as follows:

"I have been requested to represent a number of officers of the United States Navy, commissioned under the Act of June 4, 1920, who are concerned with the proposed new naval line personnel bill and similar legislation.

"It is my purpose at this time to acquaint you with my interest in the said proposed legislation. I shall confer with the appropriate officials of the Department and hope that the bill, when presented to Congress, will merit the support of all concerned."

I advised the Secretary that my purpose in calling was to let him know of this employment; that I represented the officers individually as counsel, and there was no organization. I further stated that I proposed to confer with the appropriate officials in the Department and would endeavor to cooperate with them in the preparation and adjustment of any provisions relating to these officers during the personnel inquiry then contemplated prior to submission of a recommendation to Congress.

Advised Judge Advocate.

At approximately the same time, and to the same effect, I personally advised the then Judge Advocate General, the then Chief of the Bureau of Navigation, and other officers in the Bureau of Navigation who were concerned with the subject; and thereafter and until the present time, I have frequently conferred with the officers who have had the proposed personnel legislation in their direct charge. My relations with them always have been characterized by friendly, considerate and constructive cooperation. From time to time, I have been asked by officials of the Department for advice and comment on the many suggested provisions affecting the officers whom I represent.

Furthermore, I cooperated with the Department's representatives in my efforts on behalf of the bill at the Capitol. Before the amendment to section 5 of the Britten bill was suggested in the Naval Affairs Committee, I personally submitted it to the proper officials of the Bureau of Navigation and to the Judge Advocate General, and was advised that there was no objection. When the amendment was suggested by the Committee chairman, he announced:

"I have before me a draft of one amendment that has been prepared by the representatives of most of the officers who have come out of the enlisted and reserve personnel and are in that hump. The amendment to be presented to the Committee meets not only with their approval, but also with the approval of the Navy Department."

I was present at that hearing as the Department's representatives all know, and declined an invitation by an official of the Department to make a statement on behalf of the officers affected by the amendment, this for the reason that I had been advised beforehand by all the Department's representatives that they would recommend its adoption, and I felt certain there would be no objection by any of the Committee.

Prior to and during the consideration of the Britten bill by the House, I was in touch with the Department's representatives and again during the Senate Committee hearings, and just prior to the adjournment of Congress when I cooperated with the Department officials in an effort to remove an obstacle to consideration of the bill by the Senate.

I mention these details because they are facts and they do not justify the inference which must be drawn from Eleven Alnav that the Department's knowledge of my activities is comparatively recent or that the officers concerned have merited censure.

My interest in the welfare of the service as a whole would not permit me to accept employment on behalf of any officer or group of officers which would be detrimental or unfair to any other officer or group, and, furthermore, those whom I have represented did not employ me to "influence legislation in favor of that group."

To the contrary, one of the first gestures made by these officers during my employment was their voluntary agreement to a repeal of the 1920 act in so far as it guaranteed 10, 6 and 8 years to these officers in the grades of Lieutenant Commander, Commander and Captain, respectively. That was in 1925 and at the same time they also agreed to extension of selection to the lower grades. Certainly that is not "influencing legislation in favor of that group."

No officer who has employed me has violated either Article 92 or 95 of the U. S. Navy Regulations, and the record shows that what I have done in their behalf has been with the Department's knowledge and cooperation.

I have no apology to make for the officers who have employed me, and certainly none for myself. I do not object to any reasonable order in a matter of this kind, and do not ask that the one under discussion be rescinded, but I do feel that the peremptory manner in which decision, and which could be settled without reference to the courts, if the Secretary of War were granted the power to make restricted stoppages.

Provides Safeguards.

But since such administrative authority in a huge organization may develop into an arbitrary and unjust exercise of power, the proposed legislation provides certain safeguards to the individual payee. It is provided that in the event the payee is so firmly convinced of the legality of the alleged illegal payments as to be willing to chance the additional expense of a suit, he can require that the matter be referred to a competent court for judicial determination.

The correctness of the principle incorporated into the proposed legislation that the Government should institute the action and assume the burden of proof in such cases, was recognized by the Congress in section 1766 (R. S., 5 U. S. C. Sec. 82), providing for stoppages against officers in arrears (disbursing officers, etc.) where express provision was included to that effect. If that principle be not followed, and the officer be required to bring suit, the burden is imposed upon him of proving a negative, or that he is not indebted to the Government. In my opinion, and in the opinion of the Secretary of the Navy, who approves of the proposed bill, the burden should rest upon the Government, in a disputed case, to prove its contentions affirmatively.

The other provisos of the proposed legislation are self-explanatory. It is believed that they amply protect the rights of individual payees, disbursing officers, and the Government.

This bill is a modification of S. 1830 of the 70th Congress which died in the Senate Military Committee.

Gen. Hero Visits Posts

MAJ. GEN. ANDREW HERO, Jr., C. of C. A. C., this week visited Fts. Jay, Totten, Wadsworth, and Tilden, in connection with the regular operations of the Coast Artillery Corps.

Cavalry School to Stage Meet

Ft. Riley (Special).—Twenty-two equestrian events will be staged at the Cavalry School during the celebration of Graduation Week—May 29 to June 8.

In addition, the Cavalry School Hunt Spring Race Meeting will take place on May 30 and June 1—six races each day.

Donors of trophies in the equestrian events, besides civilians and local institutions, are Col. Pierre Lorillard, whose Lorillard Cup will be contested for by Olympic prospects, green jumpers, green schooled horses, and green polo ponies, and Maj. G. S. Patton, Jr., of the Office of the Chief of Cavalry, who offers a cup in the swordsmanship competition.

which the Army and Congress labored so long to attain.

The passage of the Promotion Bill by the Senate so early in the session gives ample time for consideration by the House during the term of this Congress. The fortunes of the bill rest now in the House.

PROPOSE AVIATION FLAG.

Sen. Shortridge this week introduced a bill to establish an aviation flag of the United States of America.

The proposed flag is to consist of a sky-blue field, on which shall be imprinted two gold palm branches; a large bronze-colored American eagle with wings extended, holding in its talons an airplane propeller, horizontally extended and an olive branch. On the breast of the eagle shall be the American shield in red, white, and blue. Below the propeller shall be two stars with five points each, the one on the right being purple and the one on the left being blue. Above the eagle's head is one white star with five points.

The flag shall be appropriate for use on all airplanes of the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, and Commerce Department of the United States Government and on all American-owned airplanes.

MOTOR BOATS FOR ARMY AIRMEN.

Six 45-mile-an-hour Chris-Craft motor boats were recently purchased for the use of various Air Corps stations.

Their object is the rescue of fliers who accidentally light in bodies of water.

All stations adjacent to bodies of water will eventually be equipped with these motor boats.

that order was issued, as well as its expression, was not warranted by the circumstances and was distinctly unfair in the light of my relations with the Department hereinbefore referred to.

tion bills also remain quiescent and will not be enacted until the regular session. No opposition to them has developed, and their approval only waits on House organization.

No action has been taken on the resolution creating a Joint Congressional Commission to consider revision upward of Service pay. It is improbable that any action will be taken on this resolution during the special session. However, this is not regarded as of any importance, since the Service Committees, which would have to consider the matter under any circumstances, are prepared to hold hearings on the subject as soon as possible after Congress assembles in December.

Curtiss Race Today

TWENTY-ONE aviators of the United States Navy and Marine Corps will participate in the annual seaplane race for the Curtiss Marine Trophy, which will be held today at the Naval Air Station at Anacostia, D. C.

The race will be run over a course 10 miles long beginning at a point opposite the Naval Air Station and running south along the Potomac River. Pylons will be located in the river to mark the beginning and turning points.

Four classes of planes will be entered in the race, including fighting, observation, both two place and training planes, Loening amphibians, Martin torpedo planes. Luke Christopher, chairman of the contest committee of the National Aeronautical Association, will act as official referee, while Porter Adams, Maj. Clarence Young, and Dr. George Lewis will act as judges.

The race will be watched by ranking Naval and Marine officials and 1,200 invited guests. Secretary of the Navy Adams will not attend the race, as he left this week for New England.

The National Aeronautical Association will present five gold wrist watches to the five pilots who win the race in their respective class. The Curtiss trophy will be awarded to the pilot who makes the fastest time in the race regardless of handicap. The trophy was awarded for the first time in 1915 to O. A. Brindley, Maj. C. A. Lutz, U. S. M. C., won it in 1928.

The aviators who will compete in the race are: Capt. J. T. Moore and A. H. Page, U. S. M. C.; Lt. Comdr. Ostrander, U. S. N.; Lt. W. O. Brice, U. S. M. C.; Lts. A. P. Flagg, W. D. Sample, W. G. Maser, J. Kane and C. McCaully, H. F. MacComsey, W. E. Cleaves, R. W. D. Woods, G. D. Townsend, H. Hopping, W. J. Slattery, D. V. Gallery, Jr., J. H. McKay, M. R. Browning, and S. H. Arthur, U. S. N.; Lt. E. W. Rounds, U. S. N. R.; Chief Bosn. G. H. Groh, U. S. N.

Rule on A. C. Matches

EXPERT rating—640 for pilots and 680 for observers—will be required for participation in the annual machine-gun and bombing matches commencing at Langley Field on June 3.

The Training Regulation 440-40, recently revised makes this change.

Another important change is in the character of the ground target for flexible guns. A rectangle six feet high and 25 feet long is prescribed in place of the old bull's eye, permitting a nearer simulation of the bombing of a ship.

Roosevelt to Govern P. R.

COL. THEODORE ROOSEVELT, Jr., son of the former President, has been tendered and will accept the post of Governor of Porto Rico, it was stated in the Capital this week.

Col. Roosevelt is at present hunting in Asia with his brother Kermit.

Cantigny Vets Meet

Ft. Myer (Special).—The Society of the 1st Division, A. E. F., will be hosts at a general reunion, banquet, and horse show for the veterans of the battle of Cantigny on May 28.

The date is the 11th anniversary of the battle, the first in which the Americans were "on their own," and the results of which restored Allied morale after the great German spring drive.

A night drill and firing exhibition by the 16th Field Artillery, and music by the 3rd Cavalry Orchestra, will be special features of the celebration.

Guests of honor will be: Gen. and Mrs. C. P. Summerall, Chief Justice Walter J. McCoy, Supreme Court of the District of Columbia; Brig. Gen. and Mrs. F. R. McCoy, and Col. and Mrs. C. V. Henry.

Q. M. G. GUEST OF LEGION.

Maj. Gen. B. F. Cheatham, the Quartermaster General, was the guest of honor of the American Legion and Reserve Officers' Association, in Wheeling, W. Va., this week.

He attended a joint meeting of the American Legion and E. O. A. at their dinner guest and speaker of the occasion. Gen. Cheatham spoke on the problems of supplying the Army in Peace and War and How They are Met.

five ships to submarine rescue vessels and their assignment to stations.

Tests of the "lung" were made in the diving tank, in which pressures can be built up to correspond to various depths under water. Pressures were built up 11 pounds per square inch, corresponding to 250 feet depth, in the first test. In the second test, 133 pounds pressure per square inch, corresponding to 302 feet depth, were built up.

More Water for Tank.

The tank was so arranged that it was not necessary to remain in the cramped position of the previous test, by having more water in the tank and having a platform about 18 inches higher than the bottom level of the tank, upon which the subjects could stand, if it became necessary to raise their heads above the water. This increased depth made the tests considerably more natural and like service conditions.

The Mallard has been fitted out as submarine rescue vessel and assigned to Coco Solo; the Falcon, with the Control Force; Ortolan with submarines, Battle Fleet; Widgeon at Pearl Harbor, and the Pigeon with submarines, Asiatic.

The Chewink at New London will be partially fitted out as submarine rescue vessel.

One set of 10 pontoons are available at the New York Navy Yard, it was announced this week. Four sets of 10 pontoons each are being manufactured and will be completed during the summer for assignment as follows: 10 for Control Force to be stowed at Navy Yard, N. Y.; 10 for Canal Zone to be stowed at Coco Solo; 10 for Battle Fleet to be stowed at Detsroyer Base, San Diego; 10 for Battle Fleet to be stowed at Pearl Harbor, and 10 for the Asiatic Fleet to be stowed at Cavite.

In order that rescue vessels and units may be maintained in an efficient state of training and to insure maintenance of equipment and to provide recommendations toward improvement of equipment, it has been directed that the operating schedules provide for adequate and frequent training to include: Tests of divers, test of listening gear in locating a submerged submarine, test of supply of air to submarine compartments and aid bottles by rescue vessels, test of blowing submarine tanks by the rescue vessel, test of pontoons, test of efficiency of pontooning, and inspection and inventory of equipment both ashore and afloat.

Bill to Draft Industry Soon

BILLS giving the President the power to draft industry in war time will be ready for presentation to Congress in about 90 days, Secretary Good said this week.

Lack of such provisions in the manpower draft bill presented last week caused some opposition, and that bill will not be urged by the War Department until the bill to draft industry is ready, it was also declared.

New War Duties for C. S. O.

CHANGES, No. 1, in Army Regulation 105-5, made public this week, add to the war-time duties of the Chief Signal Officer.

He will intercept enemy radio and wire traffic, ascertain the goniometric location of enemy radio stations, solve enemy code and cipher messages, and make laboratory arrangements for the employment and detection of secret inks.

The Secretary of War has authorized the attachment of Capt. Helm Speidel, German Army, to a Bombardment Group at Langley Field, for a period of one month from May 30. Capt. Speidel recently arrived in the United States for the purpose of receiving instructions in our Army service schools for one year. He is to specialize in the study of aerial weapons and the cooperation of the principal arms of the service with the aviation arm.

Col. E. P. Easterbrook, Chief of Chaplains, has left Washington for the purpose of observing the religious work and inspecting the chaplain activities at a number of the posts located in the southeast. The War Department has approved the sending of a self-propelled 75-millimeter gun to Ft. Benning and Ft. Sill, for use in connection with the development of mechanization.

Maj. Gen. H. L. Gilchrist, C. of C. W. S., will conduct the annual inspection of the 1st Chemical Regiment at Edgewood Arsenal on May 27 and 28. A notable feature will be a night problem requiring the installation and operation of various weapons assigned to this regiment. Capt. P. H. Gempel commands this unit.

SOUTHERN C. M. T. C. POPULAR.

Ft. McPherson (Special).—The C. M. T. C. at Ft. Screven, Ga., this summer is to train 350 candidates. On April 1, one month after the procurement campaign was started, 912 applications had been received for this camp.

Fort Barrancas, Fla., is not far behind in popularity. On the 15th of May, 1,888 applications had been received for assignment to the 800 available vacancies at that place.

The 4th Corps Area again this year was the first to reach its C. M. T. C. objective. Only 22 days were needed to secure 5,514 applications. Last year, 55 days were required to reach its objective of 5,200.

Louisiana, again the first State in the country to fill its quota, required only one day for the purpose, compared to 27 days in 1928. Florida, the second State in the Union to fill, required five days.

Five of the eight States in the Corps Area filled their quota in 26 days or less. All States in the Corps Area again this year had filled their quotas a month or more before camps open, although the procurement campaign opened a month later than last year.

Young men are not urged to go to C. M. T. C. in the 4th Corps Area. They are warned that they must not only be prompt in making application but also lucky in order to secure an acceptance.

First Division Notes

THE first group of the 26th Infantry has completed its record rifle practice. Of a total of 181 men firing, there were 58 experts, 71 sharpshooters and 48 marksmen. The machine gun companies have completed their 1,000-inch practice and hope for a 100 per cent qualification. High rifle scores so far in the regiment are 333-325-321 and 319.

Corporal Nicholas Muhihall, formerly a member of Company "F," 16th Infantry, and the first American soldier to be taken captive during the World War, died May 13 at Plattsburg Barracks, N. Y. Corporal Muhihall was a member of the patrol that suffered the first casualties in France and he was taken prisoner the night that Enright, Gresham and Hay were killed. Muhihall would have been retired for 30 years' service December 1 if he had lived.

Fraternal and military ties among the Reserve Officers of the 16th Infantry were strengthened by the forming of the 16th Infantry Reserve Officers' Association, May 19. The organization was formed to bring the officers closer together.

Company "A," 28th Infantry, left Madison Barracks, N. Y., for Stony Point, N. Y., May 15, to prepare the target range for the 1929 season. The following day the entire 2nd Battalion, 7th Field Artillery, left for Pine Camp, N. Y., for their annual service practice and to prepare the camp for the accommodation of the civilian components who will train there in the summer.

A motor and animal drawn transportation show was held at Fort Niagara, N. Y., May 15. All transportation on the post took part and first place went to the Headquarters Company, 28th Infantry.

Using its own transportation for the move, the 1st Ordnance Company returned to Miller Field, N. Y., from Camp Dix, N. J., May 7, after completing a very satisfactory target season.

SERVICE NEWS AND GOSSIP

Coast Guard
Reserve Forces

PRAISE GIVEN NAVAL RESERVE LEADERS.

HIGH praise is given the local leaders of the Naval Reserve in a recent report made to the Navy Department by Rear Adm. T. T. Craven, U. S. N., Commandant of the Ninth Naval District. An extract from this letter is as follows:

"Since July, 1928, I have visited most of the Reserve organizations in the district. I have been astonished to note the degree of interest usually taken in their units by the personnel of the Reserve Divisions, some of which can have but a slight contact with shipping or maritime affairs. In so far as can be observed, the success attained and the enthusiasm demonstrated in their work by the Naval Reserve is the direct reflection of the degree of leadership exercised locally by those charged with the responsibility for the efficiency of the Reserve group. While leadership is alive and intelligently and practically active, interest is found that extends into the community and makes itself felt among civil officials, and is reflected directly in the attention and support afforded the Naval Militia and Reserves through the establishment of suitable armories, etc. Without such local leadership, and despite all effort elsewhere, little can be expected in the way either of interest or of efficiency on the part of the Naval Reserve Group, which, under such circumstances, runs down and stays down."

ARMY EQUINE STOCKS DEEMED SUPERIOR.

IN THE National Capital Horse Show held at the Bradley Farms last week, entries from the Quartermaster Stable in Washington, D. C., won 13 ribbons, and practically every horse entered from this stable was bred by a Government owned stallion.

Army officials pronounced this a most creditable showing, considering that the Warfield Farm, winner of the silver medallion, presented by the Association of American Horse Shows for the exhibitor winning the greatest number of ribbons, only had a total of 16.

Maj. Gen. B. Frank Cheatham's two mounts, Reno and Robinson, won more than half of these prizes.

The value of the Government breeding activity is indicated by the fact that more than 60 per cent of all horses shown in this Horse Show were sired by Government owned stallions, according to statements.

The blood line of many of the Remount Stallions is the same as that of Clyde Van Dusen, Man o' War, Broomstick, Rock Sand, Spearmint and other sires of leading American race horse families.

COL. CLOPTON NAMED VICE PRESIDENT.

LT. COL. WM. H. CLOPTON, JR., U. S. A., whose impending retirement, on his own application, from the Finance Department, was noted in these columns recently when he joined the organization of the Standard Collateral Shares Corporation, was elected Vice President of the Corporation by the Board of Directors on May 14.

Col. Clopton was for several years Executive Officer in the Office of the Chief of Finance and during his previous tour of duty in that office was Personnel Officer. In both capacities he served under Maj. Gen. Kenzie W. Walker, U. S. A., Ret., who is now Chairman of the Board of the Standard Collateral Shares Corporation.

JAHNCKE BOOSTS CAPITAL SPORTS.

ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF THE NAVY E. L. JAHNCKE, who is a member of the International Olympic Committee, this week expressed regret that the committee had not selected Washington as the site of the 1932 Olympiad, instead of Los Angeles.

Mr. Jahncke declared that the events would have a more dignified environment, greater publicity, larger crowds and more competitors if held in the Capital.

The Assistant Secretary's interest in Washington's athletic events is exemplified in his recent donation of a large silver pitcher to be presented to the winner of the Army-Navy one-mile relay in the South Atlantic A. A. U. senior track championships. This trophy is to be contested for each year.

STUDENTS COMPLETE AIR TRAINING.

ANNOUNCEMENT was made recently that the following named students have completed training at the Pensacola Naval Air Station: Lt. J. G. Cross, U. S. N.; Lt. (j.g.) D. T. Day, U. S. N.; Lt. (j.g.) C. K. Lankford, U. S. N.; Lt. (j.g.) P. M. Clyde, U. S. N.; Ensigns J. G. Foster, U. S. N.; C. B. Jones, U. S. N.; G. T. Mundorff, Jr., U. S. N., and E. C. Ritchie, U. S. N. The four ensigns, and the two lieutenants (j.g.) have also qualified for combat duty.

NAVAL AVIATION CHANGES SCHEDULED.

COMING changes among Naval aviators have been announced as follows: Lt.

Comdr. H. B. Cecil, who is at present attached to the U. S. S. Wright, has been ordered to the Bureau of Aeronautics about June 10. Lt. Comdr. A. G. McFall will be detached from the Naval Academy about June 1, and sent to VT Squadron 1B, Aircraft Squadrons, Battle Fleet, as the Commanding Officer. Lt. Comdr. G. A. Smith, will be detached from the Bureau of Aeronautics about June 28, and will be assigned as the Head of the Air Department, of the U. S. S. Langley.

SIGNAL SCHOOL HAS BROAD PROGRAM.

COL. GEORGE KUMPE, commandant of the Signal School at Ft. Monmouth, who will leave that post to become Executive Officer in the Office of the Chief Signal Officer about Sept. 1, was in Washington to confer with Gen. Gibbs this week.

Asked about the representation of the Arms and Services in the Signal School, Col. Kumpe pointed to this year's distribution, which is typical. Of the 65 student officers now at the school, 17 are from the Signal Corps, 25 from the Infantry, 1 from the Coast Artillery, 4 from the Cavalry, 2 from the Field Artillery, 3 from the Marine Corps, 7 from the Organized Reserves, and 6 from the National Guard. Students in the enlisted men's courses are drawn from sources equally wide; there were 12 from the Coast Guard this year.

Erection of five 4-family apartments for married officers and one bachelor building and mess are contemplated in the $500,000 building program for the coming year, which serves to indicate continued activities on the present scale.

NEW SKIPPER TO RECEIVE ZEPPELIN.

DELAY in the arrival of the Graf Zeppelin will probably result in a new skipper being at the Naval Air Station at Lakehurst to receive her. Capt. E. S. Jackson, who goes to sea to command the U. S. S. New York, will be relieved from command of the station about July 11 by Comdr. R. M. Pierce, who has been executive officer there.

AIRSHIP TRAINING CLASS COMPLETED.

THE following Navy officers have been selected to complete the quota of the class in lighter-than-air training to convene at the Naval Air Station, Lakehurst, N. J., on June 15, 1929: Comdr. F. T. Berry, Comdr. A. H. Dresel, Lt. Comdr. F. P. Traynor, Lt. Comdr. C. Craig, Lt. J. H. Severyns, and Lt. C. W. Roland.

TECUMSEH TO RECEIVE NEW COAT.

TECUMSEH is suffering from chronic disintegration. This grim figure, known as the god of 2.5, has a place of honor on the campus of the Naval Academy, where he rules over the destinies of the future officers. All who enter the Academy are warned that the great chief frowns on skeptics but will smile on all believers in his power.

Specialists have been called in consultation and ways and means of prolonging Tecumseh's eventful career have been discussed. In the past many efforts have been made to lengthen his life which began in 1817 as the figurehead of the ship-of-the-line U. S. S. Delaware, but he is now beyond ordinary repair and only measures of a heroic nature can keep him on the job.

The Class of 1891 of the Naval Academy has raised funds to perpetuate the Indian Chief and, as a memorial to all the members of their class, he will be cast in bronze so that this tradition may be preserved for the future entrants at Annapolis.

The members of the class of 1891 on the committee in charge of the restoration of Tecumseh are: Rear Adm. Arthur L. Willard, Rear Adm. Henry H. Hough, Rear Adm. Richard H. Leigh, Brig. Gen. Rufus H. Lane, U. S. M. C., Col. W. N. McKelvy, U. S. M. C., Ret.

FLEET HIGH COMMANDER TRANSFERRED.

TRANSFER of the high commands of the Fleet was made on May 22, when Admiral Henry A. Wiley hauled down his flag on the Texas and Admiral William V. Pratt assumed command of the U. S. Fleet. On the same date Admiral Louis M. Nulton assumed command of the Battle Fleet, relieving Admiral Pratt.

Admiral Wiley left shortly afterward for the East Coast, his orders being to report to his home and await orders. He is expected in Washington and will be host at a dinner on May 28. No confirmation has been received at the Department of the fleet rumors that he is considering retirement.

TOO MUCH ABSENCE CAUSES DEMOTION.

THE mascot of the Armament Section of Aircraft Squadrons, Second Brigade, in Nicaragua, "Teniente," a little white Nicaraguan terrier, has been reduced from the rank of lieutenant to private first class and sentenced to the hills for repeated AWOL, according to announcements from Nicaragua. After repeated confinement in the bombpit, which was of no avail, he was put aboard a Fokker and transferred to the flying field detachment at Ocotal.

INGALLS ADDS TO FLYING TIME.

ADDING another 20 hours to his record of 64 hours in the air in eight types of Navy planes during his two months tenure of office, Assistant Secretary Ingalls this week made a flying trip to Pensacola. Flying the Corsair, assigned for his personal use, and accompanied by a mechanic, the flying secretary made the return trip in three hops, stopping briefly at Atlanta and at Greensboro, N. C., for fuel. During his brief stay at the station he made an inspection of the different activities.

U. S. N. R. Duty Clarified

THE following extracts are from a letter addressed by the Chief of the Bureau of Navigation to the Commandants of all Naval Districts for the purpose of clarifying the conditions under which officers and enlisted men of the Naval Reserve may be ordered to active duty.

"While under the provisions of the Act of Feb. 28, 1925 (Public 512—68th Congress), it would appear to be lawful to place Naval Reservists on active duty during peace times, with their own consent, for any purpose; there are no appropriations from which officers and enlisted men of the Naval Reserve performing active duty may be paid, unless such active duty is (a) training duty, or (b) active duty in connection with the instruction, training and drilling of the Naval Reserve. Officers and enlisted men of the Naval Reserve will not, therefore, in peace times, be ordered to other active duty than training duty or active duty in connection with the instruction, training and drilling at the Naval Reserve.

"The above restrictions apply only to the officers and enlisted men of the Naval Reserve. They do not apply to transferred and assigned men of the Fleet Naval Reserve. However, the latter two classes should be placed on active duty only in accordance with instructions issued by the Bureau from time to time."

Navy Notes

THE Naval Reserve appropriations for the fiscal year 1930 contemplates 45 hours of flight for maintenance of efficiency by Reserve Naval Aviators, it was stated recently. Accordingly, the following flight syllabus is hereby prescribed for this purpose:

Solo—familiarization—various types (blind flying as becomes possible with equipment available), 10 hours; Cross country (5 flights), 6 hours; Three-plane formation flying (5 flights of one hour duration), 5 hours; Naval flights employing principles of Aerial Navigation and conducting radio communication practice (3 flights of 2 hours' duration, using 2 or more planes), 10 hours; Gunnery—2 ground strip (practice), 2 towed sleeve (practice), 1 ground strip (record), 1 towed sleeve (record), 4 hours; Bombing—4 sub-calibre (practice), 1 sub-calibre (record), 2 dummy bomb (practice), 1 dummy bomb (record), 10 hours.

A new class, A-V(K), is contemplated under a change in the Naval Reserve Regulations now in progress. This class is established for those officers of Classes A-F and A-V(G), who are no longer fitted for the designation of Naval Aviator, but who are still considered as valuable to the service for possible future requalification or for administrative or ground duty. It is contemplated that in order to continue in Classes A-F or A-V(G), an officer must be either a qualified Naval Aviator or a student Naval Aviator not yet completely qualified under the law but who it seems probable will qualify within a reasonable time.

The Navy Department this week named the six officers who are to complete the class of 16 that will take the lighter-than-air training at the Naval Air Station at Lakehurst beginning June 15.

The officers are: Comdrs. F. T. Berry, A. H. Dresel; Lt. Comdrs. F. P. Traynor, C. Craig; Lts. J. H. Severins, C. W. Roland. The course will last for 10 to 12 months.

A Wigan-Joppe meteorograph for use in making aerograph flights has been received for test by the Naval Air Station, Anacostia, D. C. This is the type instrument used extensively in Europe and is carried on planes making regular passenger runs, it was announced this week. The instrument records pressure, temperature, humidity and wind velocity, and the trace is etched on a smoked paper sheet placed on a rotating drum. The instrument apparently was designed for use with kites, as the wind velocity trace is of little value when the instrument is mounted on a plane, according to the statement.

An ice-forming indicator has been received in the Aerological Observatory for test. This instrument is essentially a distinct indicating thermometer and an additional pointer showing the critical temperatures at which ice may form. It is to be mounted on the wing of a plane with the indicator in the cockpit visible to the pilot.

The Alaskan Aerial Survey Detachment was placed in commission on April 23, 1929, with Lt. Comdr. Arthur W. Radford, U. S. N., as officer-in-charge. At the time of commissioning four officers and 10 enlisted men were attached to this unit, and since then seven more men have reported for duty. Lt. C. F. Greber and two men have been sent to the Navy Yard, Puget Sound, for duty in connection with fitting out the barge for the expedition. Permission has been obtained for the planes to fly over Canadian territory and to use Canadian government radio stations. A winged seal, designed by Lt. Chourre, has been adopted as the insignia of the detachment and this design is to be painted upon the planes. One OL-8 has been invoiced to the detachment and the other three planes will arrive on the Langley. The time has been spent in assembly of material as well as personnel, and in the testing of cameras and other equipment, also in loading stores, supplies, etc., upon the Gannet.

A total of 455 commissions are now in the hands of district commandants awaiting delivery to successful applicants. The 3rd Naval District holds the lead with the number of officers commissioned in this branch of the reserve, with 1,127. The 12th Naval District comes second with 362.

Maj. Gen. William Weigel, 1887, was added to the board of governors of the society.

Motor Boat Fires Increase

THE Bureau of Engineering views with alarm the increasing number of motor boat fires practically all of which are due to the presence of free fuel and vapor in the bilges of machinery spaces, and dirty wire gauze screens on air inlets, it was announced this week.

Particular attention is invited to the necessity of insuring that, by the installation of triple screens on air inlet opening to carburetors, the screens do not interpose a restriction to the air flow, it was stated. Where these screens are spaced one-quarter of an inch apart, the free area through the screens should be about six times the area of the carburetor intake pipes and must be correspondingly increased if the screens are placed closer together.

The following comments by the Bureau of Engineering, on reviewing a Board of Investigation of a motor boat fire, are quoted for the information of the service in advance of publication in the Bulletin of Engineering Information:

It is noted from the declarations that: (a) The boat's engineer broke the fuel line and drained about one quart of gasoline into the bilges. It is considered that deliberately permitting gasoline to flow into the bilges is bad practice and can and should be avoided, even where all practicable care is used to clear out the bilges subsequently.

(b) The boat's repair man emptied the carburetor float chamber using a grease gun, allowed it to refill, adjusted the carburetor, and immediately attempted to start the engine. The method used for removing water that may be trapped in the fuel system is probably as good as any that could be devised but, since fuel must be exposed to evaporation while doing this, it appears to the Bureau that the repair man erred in trying to start the engine without allowing some time for the fumes to clear.

The accident is similar to many that have occurred previously, wherein it was impossible to determine definitely the source of the igniting spark. In spite of safety devices installed to protect against known sources of sparks, it appears to be impracticable to foresee and guard against all the possible ways in which an igniting spark may be produced, hence, safety requires the assumption that a spark is always present and that the boat's compartments be maintained free of combustible material.

GRADUATES' DINNER PLANNED.

The Graduates' Dinner will be held at the Naval Academy on June 1 in Bancroft Hall, it was announced this week. Formation of classes will be at 7:30 on the bay side of the mess hall.

Officers planning to attend the dinner should inform Lt. Comdr. R. S. Robertson, jr., ret., at the Naval Academy, as early as possible, according to the statement. The Superintendent and officers of the Naval Academy are planning to make this a home-coming day for all graduates of the Naval Academy and their families and are expecting a large attendance at the athletic games and dinner.

A reduction of one and one-half fare on the certificate plans will apply for members attending the meeting of the Naval Academy Graduates' Association, the Bureau of Navigation announced.

AN ARMY WIFE SPEAKS.

Editor, Army and Navy Journal.
ALONG with the rest of the Army—in-cluding the wives—I have been greatly interested in your views on the possible increase of pay for the Services, and grateful for your efforts in our behalf. No doubt you have received a sufficient number of budgets to prove what you already knew—that the present pay is inadequate—so I add only general remarks concerning our particular situation.

My husband is a major. We have two boys, one of school age and one under; not a large family, but even so it is with greatest difficulty that we keep out of debt. We can't do it all the time—it being a sort of "rob Peter to pay Paul" existence. Any bank near an Army post could tell you of the constant demand for loans—and extensions of loans. We refuse to accept the embarrassment of owing the butcher and the baker, so we go to the banker. We borrow a few hundred dollars—perhaps only one—for a few months, managing with great effort to pay up—or perhaps we can't manage it and have the loan extended. Only as a last resort have we gone to our little nest egg of a thousand dollars in bonds left to my husband, but even that is partly used. We always say, hopefully, that we will replace the money, but we never can! Surely, such a state of affairs is not conducive to contentment and the ability of an officer to give his best thought to his work. And how undignified are these constant appeals to the bank for loans, whenever a change of station, an illness, or a much needed leave, or in fact anything out of the ordinary plan of living is involved! It always makes me ashamed!

My husband loves the Army—and I do too. For ourselves we might "consider the lilies of the fields," but we can't help but worry about the education of our children—or perhaps an illness that can't be handled in a post hospital—good as it often is!

Sometimes we think we are doing a bit better, and are getting a little ahead but alas! so often it is false economy. If one goes for long without replacing linens, and curtains or even clothes, there is bound to come a fearful day of reckoning, and one finds the money so proudly accumulated has gone for the necessities it should have gone for in the first place. And there we are; and with all this our mode of living is simple, for I try so hard to keep down the living expenses with food that is cheap and nourishing. How tired one gets of that expression! I welcome the occasional gift of hand-me-down clothes for my boys, from a more prosperous sister, whose husband, fortunately for her, has the scale of pay of a civilian.

We are not always unhappy with our lot—incurable optimists that we are—but, most certainly, we are often depressed by it all. Unless there can be an adequate increase in pay, it seems to me it would be a kindness to require an outside income of all men wishing to become officers.

AN ARMY WIFE.

CRYING NEED FOR PAY.

Editor, Army and Navy Journal.
I AM very much interested in your campaigns to secure accelerated promotion and better pay for the officers of the Army. For me, personally, the crying need right now is for more pay, although I would greatly appreciate looking forward three and a half years to promotion to a majority.

There are only four in our family, my wife, two boys and I, yet we are having such a hard time making ends meet or trying to make them meet, and at the same time keep up the appearance and standing in the community which is desirable for an officer's family, especially when he is on D. O. L. at a university, that the strain is telling on us materially. On this work we do not have the advantages of the commissary and post exchange and the Army doctor and dentist. Food, clothing, schools—everything costs more. All have advanced but the officers' pay.

Wherever I have been my work has practically demanded that I have and use a car—in the Government service without compensation for wear and tear or upkeep. This seems to be looked upon by all officers as of a matter of course. Yet the possession of a car involves a great deal of money that was not contemplated by officers of the old Army.

My two boys are growing fast. In a few short years their educational requirements will become a source of extreme worry to us if Congress does not make some sort of move toward increasing my pay. My experience is, I feel sure, the experience of all officers who are not fortunate enough to possess an income outside of their profession. As a matter of fact, I often wonder how in the world some officers with large families and low rank manage to live at all.

The Army has always encouraged its members to take a certain amount of recreation and exercise. With my present pay I cannot afford to become a member of a golf club or an athletic club. And as for attending shows, my wife and I do not average attending a show—even a movie—six times a year.

I am certainly convinced that for the welfare of the members of the Army personnel something should be done toward increasing the pay.

CAPTAIN X.

THE BLUE UNIFORM.

Editor, Army and Navy Journal.
A LETTER has just been received from the Adjutant General expressing the belief that officers are not buying the blue uniform on account of an apprehension that it may be changed in the near future. I believe that the Adjutant General is misinformed and that the real reason they are not buying the blues is that they do not like the antiquated style of the dress uniform. Personally I shall not buy one until it is made compulsory or until we are given a modern uniform. Let us have one cut in the same style as our service coat, with high collar if desired, to be worth with a Sam Browne belt and it will be found popular. The only reason that I know of for retaining the old style is that there may be a number of field officers who have some moth-eaten ones that they do not wish to throw away. The wearing of these will never improve the appearance of the Army.

CAPTAIN OF CAVALRY.

SERVICE CONDITIONS CHANGE.

Editor, Army and Navy Journal:

IT IS apparent that to present a full, lucid and complete study of the present pay schedule of the Army and prepare remedial action would require more time and information than I have at my disposal. I will therefore endeavor to give you my views briefly, based upon my observation of the pay situation as affecting the Army.

First: The Army is insufficiently paid in comparison with the cost of living and in view of the lessened value of the dollar.

Second: The conditions of service, particularly as affecting officers, have so changed since the World War as to render the situation of those having families and not possessed of outside means one of hardship and constant financial difficulty. I refer in this connection to the vast number of officers who spend the greater part of their service outside of posts and in civilian communities, losing all the advantages of post life as to quarters, fuel, light and general living conditions and receiving an inadequate rental allowance, which in the majority of cases will not provide the shelter adequate to the position they occupy or their actual needs. This phase of life and the added financial burden imposed should be examined and considered carefully.

Flat pay is preferable to pay plus allowances.

There should be greater difference in pay of grades, promotion in general causing an increase in pay.

I favor the rates of pay recommended in the Naval Bill and recommend its adoption.

Whatever is done, discriminatory and piece-meal legislation should be avoided. The basic principles of the present joint pay act only need remoulding to meet the change in the value of the dollar and to smooth out such inequalities as exist in it.

Major General.

LETTER OF THANKS.

Editor, Army and Navy Journal:

I WISH to thank the friends of my late husband, Commander John L. Schaffer, for the many beautiful flowers and their kind sympathy.

Plan First Division School

Ft. Hamilton (Special).—Authority has been granted and funds provided for the establishment of the 1st Division Machine Gun and Howitzer School. This will be the initial year and the school will be conducted under the supervision of the Commanding General, 2nd Brigade. The school will be conducted at Pine Camp, New York, during the month of September, 1929—the machine-gun companies of the 2nd Brigade assembling at Madison Barracks, New York, Sept. 1, for organization and preliminary instruction. Sept. 7 the school will be moved to Pine Camp, New York.

The course will be thorough and complete, including direct and indirect laying, battery drill, combat practice, barrage fire, antiaircraft fire, construction of emplacements and a noncommissioned officers' school.

The school will fill a much-needed and desired place in the yearly round of instruction, and it is hoped that in another year all machine-gun and howitzer units can be allowed to attend.

CAPITAL HORSE SHOW ENDS.

ARMY officers signalized their participation in the National Capital Horse Show by winning ribbons on all three days.

On May 18, the final day of the show, Lt. J. W. Wofford, Cav., of Ft. Myer, won the triple bar. Maj. G. S. Patton, O. C. of Cav., took first place in jumping without wings, and reserve championship in the heavy-weight hunter class, as well as second in the Corinthian. Mrs. Patton took second in the local hunters.

The Cavalry Cup, donated by Maj. Patton for officers' chargers (to be ridden by owner), was won by Col. V. G. Henry, Ft. Myer. Maj. J. T. McLane, Fort Myer, was second in jumping without wings.

Maj. Gen. E. F. Cheatham, the Quartermaster General, took two honors on the second day, fourth place for road horses 15 hands and over, and second place for horses, Government stallion sired, suitable to become hunters. Brig. Gen. William Mitchell, ret., took the red ribbon in the middleweight hunters event, and Capt. H. E. Tuttle, Q. M. C., took the blue ribbon in the troopers' mount class.

"A competent officer is never paid in a manner commensurate with his responsibilities."—HEARINGS BEFORE SPECIAL PAY COMMITTEE, 1921.

WE ARE CONFIDENT the Reed Army Promotion Bill will be substantially altered as a result of the study of its provisions which is being made. Unquestionably, its distinguished author so expected when he had it passed by the Senate. There is loose language in some sections, possibility of harmful interpretations by the administrative officers, etc. Senator Reed was anxious to secure legislation for the Army, and it was much easier to pass the bill which the Senate already had approved, than to fashion a new bill or to make drastic changes in the original measure.

NO CONFERENCES yet have taken place between Senator Reed and Congressman James. The latter, it is known, has been examining microscopically the Reed bill, and will be prepared to discuss it when the Military Committee of the House shall have been organized. The House leaders have agreed to organization of all Committees immediately before the adjournment of the extra session. This will expedite business when the regular session opens. The first matter pressed by Mr. James for consideration will be that of promotion. So the Land Service can look forward confidently to a fair and just solution some time next winter.

AS WE HAVE repeatedly stated, that solution will develop in the Conference between the two Houses. There is no doubt that the House Committee, with its minor changes in membership, will report the single list for the Air Corps, will stand back of the Wainwright bill, and will advocate the McSwain amendment. The differences between the two Houses will be thrashed out by their representatives. In the meantime, we are urging that Senator Reed and Congressman James reconcile their views, so that speedy and satisfactory agreement will be achieved.

WE EARNESTLY HOPE Congress will include in the Promotion Bill a provision suggested by Major General Smith, Superintendent of the Military Academy, authorizing the promotion of Professors at the Academy to the grade of Colonel not later than they would have been promoted to that grade had they remained in the promotion list and not been appointed Professors. No one knows better than General Smith that to maintain a high standard of instruction, inducements must be offered to insure men of brains and educating ability accepting professional appointments at the Academy. The country wants its youth educated at West Point to have the best education possible, and this can only be assured by continuance of the high order of talent which marks and heretofore has marked the faculty. To discriminate against the Professors would be to harm this great educational institution. We appeal to Congress to adopt the Smith recommendation.

THE NAVY AND Marine Corps have a real grievance against Congress. The promotion bills for these two arms are unanimously approved by members of both Houses. Yet there is no likelihood of action at this session. This is because of the failure of the House to organize all its committees, including the Naval Committee. As the House passed these measures during the last Congress, there is no opposition to them, and their reconsideration by the Naval Committee is merely a pro forma matter. We feel that the House properly could waive the formality of Committee action and by unanimous consent consider and agree to these measures. Let it be done!

THE INTERDEPARTMENTAL Pay Revision Board has a grave responsibility. We have hitherto intimated that if that Board fails to join in an unanimous report, the chances of correcting present injustices will be slim. Now we are in a position to state that controversy between the Army and Navy representatives will absolutely prevent legislation. We appeal to these members to get together and come to an agreement. We realize the difficulty of such action, the difficulty of reconciling different systems. But it is either that or nothing. The Services should not fail to impress the importance of agreement upon their agents.

THE JAMES BILL creating a Division under the general staff which will handle reserve affairs is likely to be enacted during the regular session. The artificial opposition raised against it has been weakened, as a result of a better understanding of its aims and purposes. We believe the Regular establishment and the Reserve officers will work in greater harmony as a result of the legislation. The present slipshod method of handling Reserve affairs is wrong, and the sooner an efficient administration is established the better for National Defense. The James bill will bring about this needed reform.

DEAR "DICK" Colonel Wilds P. Richardson is dead. We shall miss him, his genial smile, his great common sense, his optimistic outlook on life. We met him frequently, we never met him enough. He was a fine type—whole souled, generous, sympathetic. He straightened out a nasty situation at Archangel during the World War. He became a father to the drafted men from Michigan and elsewhere, under his command. He avoided grave complications with the Associated Powers. His work in Alaska, too, was outstanding. He had many friends, of whom we were one, and they will all join us in wishing Godspeed in the world beyond to this gallant and honorable gentleman.

THERE IS EVERY likelihood that at the next session of Congress, the National Defense Act will be a subject of study by the House Military Committee. Congressman James is convinced that the act can be improved in some respects. His Committee is expected to hold hearings and to examine the act, section by section. Where amendments prove desirable, they will be offered. We look for some desirable changes in the law.

Service Humor LO, A PROPHET.

Gloucester—Playing the Marines, are you? Well, I can tell you the score of that game before you start.

Newport—Yeh? What will it be?

Gloucester—0 to 0—before you start.

ALREADY ACCOMMODATED.

Q. M. C.—You certainly gave your fiancée a splendid ring. I'll give you credit for that.

C. E.—You needn't, old bean; the jeweler did.

THE PRICE HE PAID.

Bluejacket—When I was young the doctor said that if I didn't stop smoking I would become feeble-minded.

His Sugar—Well, why didn't you stop?

—The U. S. Service Magazine.

A GOOD COOT.

Lt.—You feel quite safe in lending Kpnatf all that money? Are you sure he is a man of perfect integrity?

Sgt.—Integrity, sir? Why that guy's just lousy with it.

SCRATCHING A DATE.

Post Town Barber—Mean cut in de cheek yo' gave Cap'n. Sygdrop, Mose.

Colleague—Yeh; dat's to let his cook know ah cain't meet her tonight.

STRICTLY PROHIBITED.

Sailor—Pinched? Willie? in a speak-easy? Tell that to the Marines.

Soldier—Sure he was pinched, honest; a cop caught him spitting on the floor.

CAN'T PLAY HOST TODAY.

Orderly (at stateroom door)—Ship's doctor, sir.

Officer (on 1st voyage)—Tell him I can't see him. I'm sick as a dog.

AN ADDED FLOURISH.

The young subaltern had been 30 seconds late on parade, and was incurring the wrath of the C. O. later, in the orderly room.

"I'm exceedingly sorry, sir," he apologized, "but I woke so late there was only 10 minutes to dress."

"Ten minutes!" barked the colonel; "why, boy, I can dress comfortably in 10 minutes!"

"Yes, sir," said the sub, innocently, "but I wash, sir."

—The Sentinel.

BEE-LEAVE OR NOT?

Pvt.—Doggone, Luke, a bee stang me out there.

1st Aid Tent—Well, put some ammonia on it.

Pvt.—No use, he'll be gone by now.

"SEA LEGS" SOMETHING ELSE.

Beast Detail—Mr. Dumbjohn, I don't think you know what "Port Arms" means. Do you?

Bright Plebe—Yes, sir, Coast Artillery, sir.

—Pointer.

SIG A SOG OB SPRIG-TIBE.

Cpl. (Sister) Cates: Honey, I'm knee deep in love with you.

Sweet Young Thing: Really. Well, I'll put you on my wading list.

—The Service News.

Suppose You Don't

—think it's very funny; send it to Service Humor anyhow as a specimen of what men laugh at. Maybe you're wrong.

WHEN YOU ARE TRANSFERRED

ASK the Journal about living conditions, etc., at the Post to which you have been directed to proceed. Questions will be answered as soon as possible either in this column or by letters. Address Post Editor.

C. L. V.—Schofield Barracks is 25 miles from Honolulu. Bus and taxi lines are operated at reasonable rates; trains run each way twice daily. Owing to size of post, a private car is practically necessary. Excellent public grammar and high school at post, and excellent private schools in Honolulu. U. of Hawaii is in Honolulu. There is a well-stocked post commissary, and small markets in local villages. Japanese servants about $16 per week single, or $23 for a couple, minimum, can be secured. There are 323 married and 31 bachelor sets; not sufficient, as 140 bachelor officers have to commute. Additional quarters may be had in Wahiawa, two miles from post, or in Honolulu. The principal roads are paved and open all year. Golf, tennis, polo, squash, swimming, horseback riding, and mountain climbing are afforded. Local clubs offer limited privileges. Climatic conditions superb; temperature varies between 70 and 80 degrees Fahrenheit. Cotton or very light wool clothes are preferable. Good clothes for either men or women are procurable locally at reasonable rates. A complete Infantry Division with a C. W. S. detachment garrison the post. There are nine post chaplains, all denominations using the chapel.

ASK THE JOURNAL

ALL questions on which our readers desire information will be answered as soon as possible after receipt. If there is any query you have in mind, send it to the ARMY AND NAVY JOURNAL QUESTION EDITOR. It will save you time and trouble. Avail yourselves of this "Service to the Services."

Unconvinced—Naming of battleships is in the hands of the Secretary of the Navy. They are named after the States, but no particular rotation is followed.

P. E.—Remounts are trained to a walking gait of four miles, a trotting of eight miles, and a gallop gait of 12 miles per hour.

IN THE JOURNAL 60 YEARS AGO

The English adopted the Moncrieff contrivance for mounting heavy artillery. The leading principle of this invention was that of elevating the piece above the parapet at the instant of firing by means of counterweights raised by the force of recoil during a previous discharge; and that in turn, the gun descended an inclined plane sufficiently low to protect the gunners from the enemy's horizontal fire, during loading.

Orders were received at the Mare Island Navy Yard to put the ironclads Monadnock and Camanche in readiness for immediate service. The Mohongo had been put out of commission.

Favorable consideration was being given by some authorities in Washington on the plan to build a ship railroad across the Isthmus of Darien. The plan was to lift ships out of the water by means of a dock, put them on cars so arranged as to carry them with little jar or motor, across the Isthmus on a truck composed of 16 rails, and dump them into the ocean on the other side. A Prussian naval officer proposed to connect the chief rivers of the country by means of a railway composed of a large number of parallel rails, to carry a portable dock large enough to accommodate a full sized vessel.

2003 New Yorkers compare the four leading cigarettes

WIEGNER, ROCKEY &amp; CO.

ACCOUNTANTS AND AUDITORS
42 BROADWAY, NEW YORK

New York, March 6, 1929

P. Lorillard Co., Inc.,
119 West 40th Street, New York City.

Gentlemen:

We hereby certify that we supervised and audited a public test of the four leading cigarette brands at 1741 Broadway, New York City, during the period of March 2 to March 5, 1929, inclusive.

This test was conducted in the following manner:

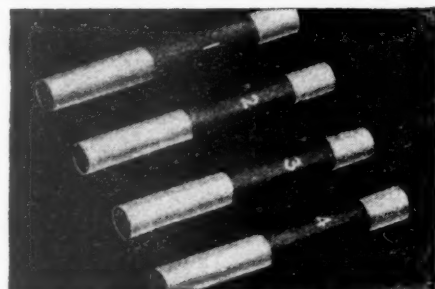

- 1 All four cigarette brands were purchased through the regular retail channels.
- 2 Each cigarette was banded with a paper "mask" wide enough to conceal the brand name.
- 3 The test was open to the general public, without any discrimination. Everyone who stepped into the display room was invited to smoke one each of the 4 "masked" brands and to indicate which cigarette his taste liked best.
- 4 After each tester specified his choice, he was permitted to remove the brand-masks so that he might see the name of the cigarette he had chosen as best, as well as the names of the other three cigarettes in the test.

We further certify that the following summary correctly sets forth the complete vote cast for the four brands in this demonstration:

	FIRST CHOICES	PERCENTAGES
OLD GOLD	601	30%
Brand X	522	26%
Brand Y	450	22.5%
Brand Z	430	21.5%
	2,003	100%

Very truly yours,

Wiegner, Rockey & Co.

Fight Deserption Charge

Norfolk (Special).—The question of whether the Navy has jurisdiction over an officer after he has been dropped from the rolls was the issue this week in the Federal District Court when arguments on the plea for the release from custody of former Ens. Beverley E. Wilson of Texas on a writ of habeas corpus were heard. The court took the matter under advisement for an opinion later.

Wilson is in the custody of naval authorities at the Hampton Roads Naval Operating Base for general court-martial on a charge of deserting the Navy Oct. 13, 1927, when he mysteriously disappeared from the Newport, R. I., Torpedo School. His father is seeking the young man's release from naval authorities on the grounds that Wilson was dropped from the Navy roll by the President of the United States three months after he disappeared, and that the Navy now has no jurisdiction over him.

Wilson was found serving as a private in the U. S. Army in Panama last February and was brought to Norfolk after the Army had released him to naval authorities. It is alleged the former officer suffered from amnesia at Newport. He was badly injured about the head in an automobile accident there and disappeared about a week later. It is contended that at the time Wilson was found in Panama his mind was a complete blank as to his past life and that he remembered nothing until he met a former roommate from Annapolis at Panama.

OBITUARIES

Announcement of deaths should be addressed to Editorial Office, Army and Navy Journal, Architects Building, Washington, D. C.

THE funeral services for the Reverend Father John Lawrence O'Donnell, 46, Major and a member of the Chaplains' Section, Headquarters, 33rd Division, who passed away Saturday, May 11, 1929 in Atlantic City, New Jersey, were held Thursday morning, May 16, at 10:00 o'clock at St. Ethelreda's Church, 88th and Paulina Streets, Chicago.

The late Father O'Donnell went over seas with the 33rd Division. In the Bois de Foret, during a heavy gas attack he displayed particular heroism in personally caring for the wounded. He remained at his work after he had been gassed himself, refusing to leave the line until exhausted, when he was evacuated to a hospital. He was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross.

When the Division came home he became one of the assistant pastors at St. Patrick's Church at Adams and Des Plaines Streets, Chicago, and with the reorganization of the 132nd Infantry, Illinois National Guard, was again appointed Regimental Chaplain. When the new parish of St. Ethelreda was established he was appointed pastor. In May, 1927, "Father Jack" was transferred from the 132nd Infantry to the Chaplain's Section, Headquarters, 33rd Division, and promoted to the rank of Major.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Mary O'Donnell, 7809 Emerald Avenue, Chicago, and by three sisters, Sister Mary Etta of the Mercy Order, Theresa O'Donnell and Mrs. Margaret Donnellan, and a brother, Edward F. O'Donnell of Bennett, California.

One platoon from Company B, 132nd Infantry, in "Blues" acted as a guard of honor in the parish house and at the church. A provisional battalion from the 132nd Infantry, with Lt. Col. Charles H. Davis in command acted as an escort to the Mt. Carmel Cemetery.

Col. Wilds P. Richardson, U. S. A., ret., builder of Alaska's longest highway which bears his name, died May 20, 1929, at Walter Reed General Hospital, Washington, D. C., after a two months' illness. Interment was at the U. S. Military Academy cemetery, West Point, N. Y., on May 21.

He served in France as brigadier general throughout the World War and then took command of American troops at Archangel, North Russia. For his efforts in removing friction between the allied armies in the Russian campaign he was awarded the Distinguished Service Medal.

Col. Richardson was appointed from Texas to the United States Military Academy. After graduation in 1884, he remained as instructor in Infantry tactics. Most of his career, however, was spent in Alaska, where he gained fame in constructing military posts and building roads and trails. He lived, after his retirement, at the Army and Navy Club in Washington. He was also a member of the Alfalfa Club and the Military Order of the Carabao in Washington and the Lambs and University Clubs of New York. Surviving him are two sisters and a cousin, Capt. J. O. Richardson, U. S. N., stationed in Washington.

Mrs. Francis H. Schoeffel, whose illness several weeks ago summoned her two children across the continent, died on Saturday morning, May 18, 1929, at her home, 172 Beverly Road, Syracuse, N. Y., after a second stroke. Mrs. Marion Braitmayer, of Ridgewood, N. J., who hurried to Syracuse from Texas on hearing of her mother's illness, was at the bedside. Mrs. Schoeffel was stricken at a dinner party five weeks ago, and the news interrupted her daughter's honeymoon. Lt. Malcolm F. Schoeffel, U. S. N., stationed at San Diego, Calif., who sped across the continent by airplane and train, had returned to his post. He did not return east for the funeral.

Mrs. Schoeffel is survived by her husband, Maj. F. H. Schoeffel, U. S. A., ret., of the Syracuse Army Recruiting Office; two children, and a sister, Mrs. W. C. Walker, of Rochester, N. Y. The body was taken to Rochester and the funeral was held in that city on May 20, 1929, at 11 a. m.

C., at 7:20 p. m., May 12, 1929, after a prolonged illness. Burial was at Arlington National Cemetery after funeral services held at Tabler's Funeral Parlor, Washington, D. C. Chaplain A. C. Oliver of Walter Reed Hospital, officiated at the ceremony. Miss McDonald, of St. Margaret's Episcopal Church choir, sang "Lead Kindly Light," and Mrs. Benham, also of St. Margaret's choir, sang "I know That My Redeemer Liveth." Pall bearers were Maj. J. A correspondent writes:

"A devoted wife and mother, Mrs. Mielenz dedicated her every thought and act to the welfare of her family. Although the last years of her life were filled with suffering she steadfastly maintained her courageous and cheerful attitude toward life. To those who knew her, she left an example of Christian womanhood and an inspiration of faith and fortitude."

New York Twice "Bombed"

New York (Special).—An LB-7 bomber, piloted by Lt. Odas Moon, A. C., theoretically demolished Governors Island in a nocturnal "sky-strafting" on May 21, and on the following night returned from Washington and swept lower Manhattan and up the Hudson.

The second night's maneuvers were attended by a refueling of the bomber over the attacked city itself, and a broadcast of the maneuvers by the famous "flying laboratory" of the Air Corps. Adverse weather conditions prevented the passage of the auxiliary planes to Washington on the first night, were the refueling was to be done and the broadcasting to begin.

The refueling plane was piloted by Capt. Ross Hoyt, A. C., who refueled the Question Mark on its record flight. The Fokker C-2 transport, alias the "flying radio laboratory," was piloted by Lt. L. M. Wolfe. With Lt. Moon on the bomber were Lts. E. Eubanks, P. C. Richter, C. T. Skow, and Mr. B. Jones, navigation expert from Wright Field. With Capt. Hoyt were Sgts. R. A. Bremner and W. J. Simons. On the "flying laboratory" were, besides Lt. Wolfe, Mr. Eaton, radio engineer at Wright Field, and Messrs. Hanson, Morris, and Dixon, of the National Broadcasting Company.

The Army radio station at Ft. Monmouth and that of the Navy at Lakehurst furnished the bombing plane meteorological data in the first "bombing" which were said to have been indispensable to its success.

Competition Stabilized

THE communication competition for shore radio stations is now becoming stabilized, according to recent statements from the Office of Naval Communications of the Navy Department.

This competition serves to provide accurate data of the efficiency of each circuit for the use of supervising seniors and also stimulates accuracy and speed, it was stated.

As large units of the fleet move from one vicinity to another, there is a very great accompanying increase of traffic. With shore stations operating upon a peacetime allowance of personnel, this cannot always be handled without some reduction of communication competition score. The Director sometimes receives reports that a district's score suffers from the presence of the fleet. Such reports indicate a tendency to regard the competition score as the chief end of Naval communications ashore. It seems appropriate to re-emphasize the correct mission—"Service to the Fleet," according to the announcement.

Weddings

MARKED with rare dignity and beauty, the wedding at which Miss Mary Janet Earle, only daughter of Adm. Ralph Earle, president of Worcester Polytechnic Institute, and Mrs. Earle, of Worcester and "Earle Ridge," Leicester, Mass., and Ens. John Fore Hines, jr., U. S. N., were united in marriage, was an afternoon ceremony at 4 o'clock Saturday, May 11, 1929, at All Saints' Episcopal Church, Worcester, in the presence of a distinguished assemblage of Worcester guests and many from distant cities, notable among them officials of the United States Navy.

The bridegroom, a graduate of the U. S. Naval Academy, and at present attached to the U. S. S. Sands, is the son of Capt. John Fore Hines, U. S. N., and Mrs. Hines, of Philadelphia, Pa., Bowling Green and Lexington, Ky. He is grandson of the late Maj. Gen. Joseph Sabell Breckenridge. Mrs. Hines, on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage, entered the church, preceded by her attendants, progressing to the chancel where marriage vows were exchanged. Rev. Henry Wise Hobson, rector of All Saints' Church, assisted by Rev. Stanley C. Hughes, of Newport, R. I., uniting the young couple in marriage.

At the conclusion of the marriage service, a command was the signal for the drawing of sidearms of naval officers of the wedding party, each of whom, in the formal blue with gold epaulets and stripes of his rank, engaged the sword of the officer opposite in line to form an arch of crossed swords, through which Ensign and Mrs. Hines passed as they took leave of the altar. A song of the Navy was the recessional music as the bridal party left the church for the home of the bride's parents, where a reception followed.

The bride was gowning in a period model of cream white satin, with long close-fitting sleeves. Her court train of satin was fastened to her shoulders, and her veil, trimmed with Duchess lace, was caught with orange blossom clusters. Her large bouquet was of lilies of the valley and white roses. Mrs. Richard Heywood, of Hopkdale, the former Betsey Whittall, attended Mrs. Hines as matron of honor, and Miss Mary Hines, of Philadelphia, sister of the bridegroom, as maid of honor. The skirts of their period gowns of rose pink taffeta, flounced with scalloped edges, reached the floor. Miss Charlotte Baldwin and Miss Alice Jennings, both of Worcester; Miss Elizabeth Johnston, of Cambridge, and Miss Katherine Lackey, of Norfolk, Va., were bridesmaids. Their gowns, resembling those of the other attendants, were of apple green, worn with horsehair hats of matching velvet trimming. Daisies, arranged with fern, formed their bouquets.

Ens. T. Davey, of Beverly, attended Ens. Hines as best man. The ushers were Lt. H. E. Schiege, of South Dakota; Ens. F. C. Carusi, of Washington, D. C.; Ens. C. C. Burlingame, of Lexington, who is attached to the U. S. S. Utah; Ens. H. G. Wall, of Stoughton, U. S. S. Florida; George B. Kneass, of Berwyn, Pa., and Edward B. Hodge, jr., of Philadelphia.

Following the reception at which Ensign and Mrs. Hines received with their parents and members of the wedding party, the couple left for a wedding trip.

Mrs. Hines attended the Burnham School, Northampton. She is a member of the Junior League of Worcester. Ens. Hines, who is a graduate of the Naval Academy, received his appointment from Bowling Green.

The wedding of Mrs. Ruth Stanton Brown, of Atlantic City, N. J., and Comdr. John Emerson Williams, U. S. N., of the Naval Radio Station at Los Banos, P. I., took place at the Chapel of the Union Church, Manila, P. I., April 25, 1929, with the Rev. George W. Wright officiating.

The attendants were Lt. George H. Rice, D. C., U. S. N., and Miss Esther Anderson, of Los Banos. The bride wore an old rose chiffon and lace dress, a large hat to match, and rose slippers. Her shower bouquet was of white butterfly orchids and cadena de amor.

FORT BENNING, GA.

May 24, 1929.

ON Wednesday afternoon, May 8, a beautiful and inspiring pageant, welcoming the new Commandant, Brig. Gen. Campbell King, Mrs. King, and Miss Barbara King, to the personnel and activities of the Garrison, was staged in a natural amphitheater at the Water Tanks.

The Master of Ceremonies, discreetly concealed, introduced each group to the Commandant as it approached the receiving stand and interspersed the entire proceedings with pungent and witty remarks.

Col. Harry E. Wells and 100 golf players, dressed in sporty links attire, welcomed Gen. King to the Post, extolled the virtues of golf and hoped that the General and his family would join them on the links.

Next Maj. Truman Smith presented the tennis players of the Garrison. Then came a contingent of school children. Little Miss Louise Ryder presented the children, and invited the General to visit them at school. Little Ann Chun presented Mrs. King with an armful of flowers and received in return a kiss from Gen. King.

Then midst the thunder of hooves the Polo players swept into view in their bright colored jerseys and dashed up to the stand, and were presented by Maj. Charles B. Lyman.

Introducing the General to the extent of equestrianism on the Post Maj. H. M. J. Smith led 150 bold and intrepid riders down the hillside and swept them into place before the General with the dash and verve of a cavalry troop.

Clear through the woods a song is heard, "O a-hunting we will go," and then the clear note of a fox hound on the scent. Down the hill and across the field swept the pack of hounds, followed by the red-coated huntsmen. These were introduced to the General by Capt. Dan Mallan, who explained to the General the various types of hunting available on the Reservation.

The Dramatic Club members and the Glee Club were then presented. The Glee Club sang several choruses from the "Mikado."

Last of all came the 24th Infantry Band and a group of singers from the 24th who sang negro spirituals.

Gen. King expressed his appreciation of the pageant and complimented the morale and skill of the personnel in staging so large and magnificent a demonstration.

The Infantry School Dramatic Club presented the three act comedy, "Pigs," by Anne Morrison and Patterson McNutt, at the Main Theater, on May 10 and 11. This is one of the most pretentious plays ever undertaken by the Dramatic Club, and from the opening scene till the final curtain the play was presented with the skill and polish which is supposed only to grace the professional stage.

Huge audiences on both nights laughed long and loud, though at times the undercurrent of tragedy in the play wet the lashes of many. Capt. J. K. Rice was fine in the role of the head of a household on the brink of disaster. Mrs. Ethel Green played the part of the wife excellently.

Capt. Stanley G. Saulnier put on one of the best pieces of stage business seen in many a long day. He produced many of the laughs in the play. Mrs. Shirley R. Hurt was superb in the role of the young and unsophisticated girl who was always overhearing and repeating things she should not, and was easily the star of the show.

THE problems of oil conservation and recent developments in the oil industry are discussed by G. M.-P. Murphy and Co., in a recent issue of A Fortnightly Review:

It must be said that the past two years have seen important and constructive efforts at proration of output made in Oklahoma and West Texas and more recently in California by most of the big companies, under the stimulus of the Federal Oil Conservation Board's interest. Unfortunately no great success has been achieved in solving the problem of competitive drilling as far as material results are concerned but progress has been made in educating the oil industry to the acceptance of voluntary agreements as to pool operations and to the understanding that, failing this, legislation may be expected to enforce reform. Quite definite strides, moreover, have been made in the direction of forming public opinion on the gravity of the question and on the necessity for a cooperative attitude.

SCHOOL DIRECTORY

COMMENCEMENT

With the approach of the commencement time Service parents are once more confronted with the problem of their children's education. For those who have finished high school it means the selection of a suitable preparatory or finishing school. For those planning to pursue a college course still another problem is presented; and, finally, those young men fortunate enough to have been designated for examination for entrance to West Point and Annapolis a special course of training is necessary.

Regardless of the nature of the Service parents' problem in connection with their children's education the Army and Navy Journal School Directory can furnish invaluable aid. The School Directory Editor is always anxious to assist Service parents with their problems and his services are at the disposal, gratis, of the National Defense personnel who are invited to consult him with reference to their particular needs.
